VANDALISM—A granite vase that adorned a grave in Waveland Cemetery lies shattered after being smashed by vandals. Several tomb and headstone decorations were destroyed in the assault on the honor of the dead. According to Waveland Police Chief

Donald Dorn, two young males were reported running from the cemetery at about the time the vandalism occurred. Several of Dorn's late family members' graves were among those damaged. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Four candidates qualify for Bay school board

BY DENA BISNETTE

Four candidates have qualified to run in the March 3 election for Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District.

The candidates include incumbent Danny Carter, Frank Baktis, Ruth Thompson and James D. Wilcox.

The qualifying deadline was Saturday.

Carter, a Waveland police officer and former Commander of American Legion Post 77 in Waveland, has held the office since the last election. He is one of two elected trustees on the board, which also has three appointed members.

The elected members represent what is known as the "outside territory", which consists of all property inside the Waveland city limits and a small section of Hancock County added years ago to the original Bay St. Louis school district.

Baktis is employed by the Naval Oceanographic office at Stennis Space Center and has served as P.T.O. president at both North Bay School and Bay Junior High. He is currently vice president of the Band Boosters.

Thompson is owner of Ruth's Bakery and president of Bay St. Louis Business Association.

She is past secretary of Bay Junior High P.T.O. and helped start the Bay St. Louis chapter of Mississippi Association for Talented and Gifted Children.

Wilcox is a registered pharmacist and owner of Wilcox Pharmacy in Waveland. He is a member of Gifted Parents Association, Waveland Elementary School P.T.O. and Bay Middle School P.T.O.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at Waveland Elementary School.

If a run-off election is needed, it will be set for March 17 with the same hours and location.

Pollution Control says ramp issue is no delay in ASRM permitting

BY DENA BISNETTE

There has been a delay in the setting of a State Bureau of Pollution Control public hearing regarding the Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) project, but an official at the bureau's Air Quality Division said it has nothing to do with rumors about a change in construction plans.

Dwight Wylie's office is processing an air quality permit request from NASA which must be granted before ASRM test firings can begin. The test firing program is scheduled to begin sometime in the early 1990s.

Wylie stated that no date was actually ever set for the hearing, although originally it was believed it might be arranged for a Gulf Coast location sometime next month.

Once the hearing is set, there will be an additional 30 days before it can be held due to a requirement for public notice, which must be published 30 days prior to the event.

Wylie said that when a hearing is set, it will be "somewhere in the area of the plant, which in this case is proposed for Stennis Space Center."

"We will get as close as we possibly can. Last time we had something down there, we did it in Waveland."

The decision on where to hold the hearing may have to be based simply on what facility can hold the number of people expected to attend, he stated.

Wylie explained that he has heard rumors that a deflection ramp, a concrete structure designed to help disperse the particulate matter which will be released into the air by test firings of the ASRM proposed for Stennis Space Center, might be left out of the project.

However, he said he heard about the ramp from people who called him at his Jackson office to question him about the rumor.

"This delay, if you wish to call it that, is not related to the ramp. We will ask at some point for the design details, but we are not in that stage of the permitting process as yet," he added.

"Our reason for spending so much time is that we're trying to address every question and concern people have raised."

Written comments from the public are being sought as part of the permit request evaluation and can be addressed to Wylie's attention at Bureau of Pollution Control, P.O. Box

Teen admits gunshot was self inflicted

BY D.C. HARVILL

A Waveland teen who was found shot in the driveway of a home in that city's Middletown neighborhood earlier this month has admitted to shooting himself accidentally, according to Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn.

The 16-year-old youth was found Jan. 8 by the resident of 404 Tabor St. with a gunshot wound to the chest. A .30.30 rifle loaded with .357 magnum pistol cartridges was found down the street from the victim.

The teen initially gave investigators several different stories about how he had been shot. Investigators have found evidence to support the confession that the wound was self inflicted, according to Dorn.

"At first he told us he had been shot by someone passing in a car, but he had powder burns on his clothes around where the bullet went in, so he had to have been shot at close range," Dorn said.

The rifle found near the victim was determined to have been stolen, along with a .38 caliber revolver, in a Dec. 19, 1989 burglary of a house on Felicity Street in Bay St. Louis.

The day of the burglary, Bay St. Louis Police arrested another teenager at the corner of Sycamore and St. Francis streets with the stolen pistol in his possession. He has been charged with carrying a concealed weapon, according to Bay Police Investigator Tom Burleson.

"We talked to the one who shot himself and he said they were both involved in the burglary," said Burleson, who expects burglary charges to be filed against both of the young males.

Taylor urges letter blitz to save ammunition plant

BY D.C. HARVILL

U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor toured the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant Monday urging its employees to begin pressuring President George Bush to keep the plant open.

"He ran on a position of strong national defense. We are asking them to be people of their word," Taylor said.

Plans to close the plant, which employs nearly 1700 people, were announced by the Army in 1988. Should the closure take place, approximately 300 employees would be retained to maintain the plant in the event it needed to be reactivated.

Officials of Mason Chamberlain Inc., the private contractor that operates the plant, announced Monday that the plant has been awarded a $9.5 million contract to continue manufacturing 155 millimeter projectiles. The contract, however, will not keep the plant open into 1991. U.S. Senator Trent Lott called the contract "encouraging news."

A $90 million appropriation that would keep the plant open through 1990 was made in 1989 but has not been authorized. Before an appropriation can go into effect, it must receive authorization from the proper committee in both the House and the Senate.

The ammo plant appropriation is in three phases, the first of which expires within several weeks if authorization is not received. Time runs out on the other two phases in March and in June, according to Taylor.

Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee has pledged his support of the authorization, but the Senate committee chairman, Sam Nunn has not, Taylor said. U.S. Senator Trent Lott from Pascagoula serves on the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"It is a major challenge, but I feel comfortable that it will pass the (House) Armed Services Committee," Taylor said.

Taylor stated that the facility, the first U.S. munitions plant constructed since World War II, is the only one which manufactures projectiles from raw material to finished product. Because the facility is the most advanced of its kind, Taylor suggested that, if closures are necessary, the older plants should be closed.

At the very least, Taylor said, the plant should be given adequate time to find a concern that can use it to manufacture products for the private sector. Two potential products are drill bits for the oil industry and axles for automobiles, he said.

REP. GENE TAYLOR

Taylor said he has asked the Mississippi State University Engineering School and a group of Coast businessmen to investigate alternative uses for the plant.

Taylor expressed concern over U.S. Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney's recently announced plans to shave the defense budget by $180 million over the next three years, a move prompted by the recent toppling of communist European dictators.

It is "foolhardy" to judge the Warsaw Pact based on their actions over the "past 45 years," the congressman said.

Hancock hotels reap boon of Super Bowl overflow

BY D.C. HARVILL

Because New Orleans does not have an adequate number of hotel rooms to house the crowd pouring into town for Super Bowl XXIV, Hancock County hotels are experiencing an unseasonably high occupancy rate.

The county's newest hotel, Quality Inn at Diamondhead, was booked solid for Super Bowl weekend three weeks ago, according to clerk Jackie Necaise.

The 155-room hotel has averaged between 25 and 50 occupied rooms during its five months of operation, but is fully booked through Monday, Necaise said. "People are already checking in today," Necaise said Wednesday morning.

While other hotels in the area have been booked solid in advance, occupancies are running much higher than normal for January.

"We are doing real good. Our rooms aren't booked solid but we only have about five rooms left and they should be gone by Friday. Our town houses are booked solid," Jan Quinn, office manager of Diamondhead Inn said.

"We usually are about 39 percent full this time of year, but we are about 65 percent full

MULTIPLE CHARGES

A call from an observant security guard resulted in the arrest of a fugitive by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department in Diamondhead Tuesday.

The security guard noticed a suspicious looking truck and called the sheriff's office. While Deputy James Ladner was taking the truck's tag number, its owner, Juan Carlos Jimenez, walked up, according to Investigator Glen Strong.

With assistance from Hancock Justice Facility Warden Gerald Necaise, it was learned Jimenez is a fugitive from Miami, where he is wanted for battery of a police officer, felony possession of a concealed weapon, sale of cocaine, resisting arrest and for jumping bond.

"Officials in Miami have been notified and they said they would extradite," Strong said. Jimenez is being held in Hancock Justice Facility without bond.

The case has been turned over to the Metropolitan Drug Task Force for investigation.

Wilcox to run for school board

James Wilcox of Waveland has qualified to run in the March 3 election for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board.

Wilcox, a native of Hancock County and a graduate of Bay High, is a registered pharmacist and has been owner of Wilcox Pharmacy for 10 years.

He has a bachelor of science degree from University of Southern Mississippi in microbiology and biochemistry. In addition, he has a pharmacy degree from Northeast Louisiana University and has done graduate studies at University of Mississippi Medical Center.

In addition, Wilcox served in the U.S. Coast Guard and is currently a member of its active reserve.

Wilcox is a member of several organizations, including National Association of Retail Druggists and American Legion. He is also a member of several school-related groups, including Waveland Elementary P.T.O., Bay Middle School P.T.O. and Gifted Parents Association.

Wilcox is also a member of Word of Faith Christian Fellowship.

He has been married for 16 years to the former Dorothy Lane Wilcox, who is a graduate of University of Southern Mississippi and is currently vice president of the Bay Middle School P.T.O., and they have two children, 11-year-old Amanda, who attends Bay Middle School, and seven-year-old Carrie, a student at Waveland Elementary School.

"I believe education is the cornerstone to the growth and future of the Bay-Waveland area," Wilcox stated. "I want to see that every child in this area has the opportunity to receive a top quality education."

"I will work to see that our students have the ability to score higher on college entrance exams and standardized tests so that they can better compete to gain access to the best universities and high-paying jobs."

The candidate also stressed the importance of a good school system in local growth.

"A high-rated school system will attract people moving to the Gulf Coast to our area instead of seeing them choose another area," he said.

"I believe these goals can be accomplished through encouraging more parental input and involvement in the system, reviewing and adjusting curriculum to better meet goals of top quality education, improving the school's physical facilities and working for greater cooperation and communication among administrators, teachers and parents."

The election will be conducted from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at Waveland Elementary School, with a run-off election scheduled for March 17 if one is needed.

Pharmacists offer emergency ID network

Pharmacists throughout Mississippi are participating in a statewide effort to identify and enroll patients with serious or hidden medical conditions in a national 24-hour emergency response system called Medic Alert.

The Medic Alert emergency information network provides protection to patients in emergencies through an identification bracelet or necklace engraved with the wearer's medical conditions, a personal ID number, and a round-the-clock telephone hotline number.

Within seconds of calling the hotline, ambulance or emergency room personnel can get specific information about the patient that may be critical to the most appropriate diagnosis or emergency treatment.

"One in four of these patients may have a hidden medical condition such as diabetes or heart disease, or serious allergies to medications commonly used in emergency situations like antibiotics and pain medicine," said Phyllis Moret, MPA executive director.

"Because many of these patients may be unconscious or incoherent, they are particularly vulnerable to inadequate or inappropriate treatment. This could be avoided if emergency personnel had immediate access to key facts about the patient's condition or medications—information that's available in seconds if the patient is wearing a Medic Alert bracelet or necklace."

For more information about Medic Alert, see your participating community pharmacist or call 1-800 ID ALERT.

Senators feel heat from last week's lottery vote

Attorney General Mike Moore is obviously not seeking to enhance his popularity with his attack on a favorite pastime of many state residents—bingo.

Moore is heavy-handed in his enforcement of the constitution's ban on lotteries, a move that could well be political suicide if bingo cards are removed from the hands of state voters.

A lottery is—by Webster's definition—"a drawing of lots in which prizes are distributed to the winners among persons buying a chance" and "an event whose outcome is or seems to be determined by chance". In other words, purchase a bingo card, spin the wheel, select a lucky number, win a prize. No skill is involved—just luck.

By relating bingo to the lottery ban, Moore has attempted to remind legislators of the old adage "What's good for the goose is good for the gander". With their failure to afford electors the opportunity to cast their votes on a state lottery, Moore has sent a not-so-gentle reminder that the law will be enforced as it is currently interpreted. If the wrath of voters is incurred along the way—so be it.

Public opinion is said to be about 75% in favor of a state lottery. The 26 state senators (including Pearl River-Stone-Hancock County Senator Margaret (Wootsie) Tate) who voted against the lottery bill, which would have placed the matter in the hands of the voters, are feeling the heat of that decision.

Sen. Cy Rosenblatt announced he would not seek reelection, partly due to the overwhelmingly critical response his vote encouraged. He predicts others may fall victim to their lottery vote.

Many of the senators who opposed the lottery support bingo, when the proceeds are donated to charity. In 1987, the legislature allowed non-profit groups to run bingo for charitable purposes, which in many cases has been misused. These professionals would often donate a token amount to charity and pocket the rest, unlike the veterans and civic organizations using bingo to raise funds solely for community projects.

These veterans, church and civic groups have the power to elect or defeat a senator in just about any district, if they so desire.

Apparently the 26 senators haven't gotten the message as yet.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

Early risers do not want to forget the Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition at 7:30 a.m. this morning at the Wheel Inn Restaurant.

William R. Whitson, assistant director for Operations, Gulf of Mexico Program Office is the scheduled speaker.

He will be talking about issues and problems that exist in the Gulf of Mexico environment and about upcoming plans for the Gulf of Mexico.

I hope to see you early this morning.

Folks complain from time to time about the United States Postal Service on mail delivery, yet, on the other hand there are other stories.

On Tuesday I received a letter from a resident of West Germany with an interesting address.

The letter was addressed:

To the or

Waveland
Mississippi
(close to Bay St. Louis)

I was glad to have received the letter the way it was addressed, and I will be able to supply the information the former Waveland resident requested.

The letter was from a gentlemen who left Waveland in 1935 at age 10. He wrote that his mother was sick and the family returned to Germany.

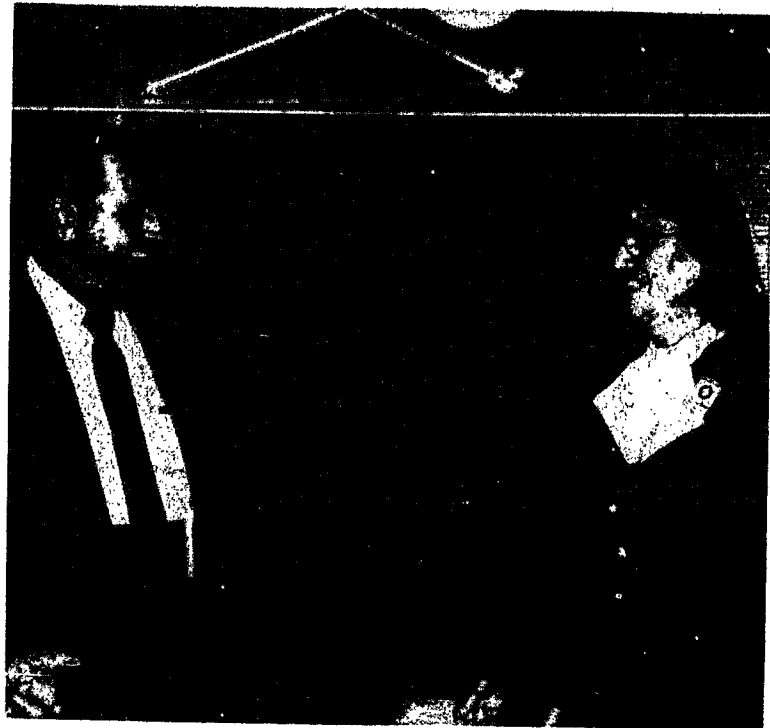

I called my mother yesterday and asked if she remembered the family's name, and right off she said yes.

Mother told me that she remembers the family and where they had lived and that there was a young son, but she did not know where they had moved to.

My maternal grandparents were both German and my grandfather, whom I do not remember, died in 1935. I can remember my grandmother speaking German when I was a youngster.

This just goes to show how small a world it really is.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Should Supreme Court, Chancery and Circuit judges be elected?

Should Supreme Court, and Circuit and Chancery judges in Mississippi be taken out of the election system and made appointive?

That's an old question in Mississippi, but no real discussion of converting to an appointive state judiciary has been heard in the Legislature in recent years.

Now the issue is being raised once again by two state senators who have proposed a constitutional amendment to install a nonpartisan system of appointing judges similar to what is known around the country as the "Missouri Plan."

The key to the Missouri system is a requirement that each judge at the end of his term must submit to a retention election by the voters within his district in order to hold on to his post.

Most Mississippians may not realize that the election of Supreme Court and Circuit and Chancery judges doesn't go back to the old Constitution of 1890, which is thought of as the prototype of Mississippi's "long ballot" system.

Judges had been made appointive by the governor with the consent of the state Senate in the 1869 Mississippi Constitution. The framers of the 1890 document retained the same appointive system.

But with the rise of the Populist movement around the turn of the century, there was an insistent demand to change the judiciary to an elective system, to make it, as the clamor of the day went, "more responsive to the will of the people."

The Populists succeeded in amending the constitution in 1912 to require Circuit and Chancery judges to be chosen by elections. Then, in 1916, another amendment changed the Supreme Court to the elective system.

Arguments have been heard ever since that good judges are not necessarily good political candidates and the elective system does not produce the best judiciary. The Mississippi State Bar had become critical of the elective system in the 1930s, and launched a movement to go back to the appointive system, but failed to get the necessary legislative support.

Sen. Ronnie Musgrove of Batesville, believes the time is now long past when judges should have to get out and campaign in the political arena in order to get on the bench.

"We need to take politics as far as possible out of the judicial ranks," said Musgrove, a practicing attorney for the past nine years. "For judges to have to make campaign promises and take campaign contributions to get elected compromises the judicial office."

Musgrove said the people "have the best access to the judicial system when you have the most capable persons serving in these positions."

Joins by Sen. Glen Deweese of Meridian, Musgrove is sponsoring a constitutional amendment to provide for gubernatorial appointment of Supreme Court judges as well as judges of Circuit and Chancery Courts from three nominees selected by a nonpartisan judicial nominating commission in each district.

The commissions would be made up of three members selected by the Mississippi State Bar who reside in the district; three members appointed by the governor who are not members of the Bar, and a Supreme Court justice named by the chief justice.

At the end of his term—including all incumbent judges—each judge would have to submit to a referendum by voters on whether or not he should be retained in his judgeship. "He would be running only against himself and his own record," Musgrove declared.

If a majority voted "no" on retention of the judge, then the job would be declared vacant and a new appointee named. "This way you can put the highest qualified people in office and keep intact their accountability to the people," the Batesville lawmaker said.

But the idea of going back to an appointive judiciary drew immediate opposition from black voting rights activist Henry Kirksey of Jackson, who had brought a successful court redistricting suit in Federal Court that resulted in election of five new black judges last year.

"Now that we have elected a couple of black judges, they want to change the system," Kirksey argues.

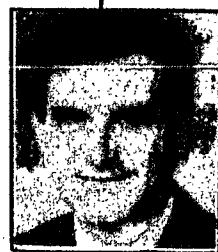

Blacks, he said, "weren't the ones who changed to the elective system back 70-odd years ago. That was the white preference."

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

by Sen. Vic Franckiewicz Jr.

Most of third week in Legislature was devoted to lottery in state

Most of the focus of the Senate during the third week of the Legislative Session was on the lottery.

Along with 24 of my colleagues, I voted in favor of giving you, the voters of the state, the opportunity to speak to this issue. We were nine votes short of the two-thirds required to pass the resolution, which would have called for a vote on the lottery at the June 1990 election.

The proposal would have required the proceeds to go into the BEST Education Trust Fund, which would be set up to support the education reform program currently under consideration.

A move to reconsider the lottery was made on the Senate floor last Thursday morning. This effort was voted down as well.

The only way to revive the lottery issue this year is by suspending the rules, which requires a two-thirds vote, the same as is needed to pass the resolution. I doubt that this will happen; in my opinion, the lottery is essentially dead for this session.

I have sponsored another resolution which would specifically allow for bingo, raffles, and similar gaming by non-profit organizations. As it stands now, the courts will probably make bingo illegal throughout the state.

My proposal, Senate Concurrent Resolution 537, is still alive in the legislative process. I will be working hard to pass SCR 537; if it doesn't succeed, our churches, veterans' groups, and other civic organizations will have to find other ways to raise money for the many charitable causes they support.

Despite the defeat of the lottery, the education reforms proposed by Governor Mabus are still being considered. When it comes to funding the reforms, we will be faced with the tough choice of cutting back other areas of state government or increasing taxes.

I believe that state government can be trimmed back in some areas, but few of my colleagues agree.

From now until Jan. 30, we will be studying in committee the more than 1,300 Senate bills which have been filed. I would be glad to hear your input on any of the issues before us.

You may call me at 359-3770 or write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215-1018. I can be reached at home on weekends at 467-2399.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Balancing the budget

One of the critical legislative issues of 1990, as it is every year, is the problem of balancing the state's General Fund budget, a budget that will reach $2 billion for the first time in fiscal 1991.

And, built-in increases could send expenditures soaring above anticipated revenues.

The easy road is the road to new taxes, whether an increase in the sales tax, an increase in the income tax, a removal of sales tax exemptions, or any one of several other legislative moves which could mean, in effect, higher taxes.

The tougher road is the careful examination of state governmental operations, to be sure that taxpayer dollars are being used as wisely and as effectively as possible.

The Mississippi Economic Council, an arm of the state's tax structure in recent months, has called for continuing examination of state expenditures, to assure that Mississippians are paying only for essential governmental services.

Now, with the budget hitting the $2 billion mark, and with built-in needs apparent, the MEC suggestion deserves serious consideration by the Legislature.

The MEC study, in addition to the recommendation, also commended the Legislature for its success in balancing the state's budget.

Let's be sure that the state's budget is balanced, and let's be sure tax dollars are being used only for essential governmental services. This is no time for governmental frills.

Permit

10385, Jackson, MS, 39289-0385.

Wylie added that several people in his office were scheduled to go to Utah to observe tests of a similar solid rocket motor. The major difference between the motors being fired at Utah and the ASRM planned for testing at Stennis is that the ASRM has a greater thrust.

The air quality division is also looking into the effects of similar activities in Florida and has asked NASA more questions about them, he added.

The next step for BPC after getting NASA's responses and completing its own independent investigation is to make a decision on whether or not the NASA can meet air quality regulations applying to the ASRM project.

"Then we will begin drafting up conditions for use if a permit is granted," Wylie explained.

"To be thorough takes time, but I think everybody wants us to be thorough and to examine this as fully as possible," he stated.

Tim Waycaster at the State Attorney General's Office said he has heard about the ramp issue.

"As far as we understand, the ramp was supposed to simulate conditions in Utah and would probably be important in any decision by Bureau of Pollution Control," Waycaster stated.

He said his office can not become involved in the ASRM issue until after BPC has acted on the permit request, but added, "There's a letter writing campaign."

"We have been getting tons of letters. In our role as lawyer for the state, we are monitoring this issue. The correspondence I've seen is overwhelmingly against locating the ASRM at Stennis, but that could be because the opposition has more clout," Waycaster said.

"We're just beginning to look at all of the issues involved."

General Smith, project director for the development of the ASRM, which he has stated was a direct result of the disaster that destroyed the Space Shuttle Challenger, said the actual decision on whether the ramp or some other technology will be used lies with Rust Engineering, which will have to go in and look at the specific site for the test stand after conferring with the two construction contractors, Lockheed and Air Jet.

"There may be a better way to turn the exhaust and get the necessary air dispersal," he said, adding that he personally felt the ramp would still be the best technology available once the evaluation of the matter is completed.

"Today I know of nothing better," he said.

He said contract negotiations, as he understood the matter, were in progress with all three firms.

Smith did explain how the ramp looks and works, stating that it would be a concrete structure of several hundred feet in height designed to turn the ASRM exhaust upward in the same manner as the natural terrain at the Utah site.

The exhaust might be hot enough to rise anyway, he said. However, Smith felt one reason a second look at the technology is needed is that there is some possibility that the soil at the foot of the ramp might be eroded by the test.

With Hancock County's high water table, that erosion could result in acid rain, Smith explained. Therefore, something would have to be added to the design to protect against this problem.

Smith added that design details should be worked out early this year. A future step would then be to obtain another needed environmental permit, a wetlands permit.

Smith was recently succeeded as project manager for the proposed testing program at Stennis by Lon Miller, whose only statement on the matter was that there has been no change in plans regarding the deflection ramp.

Dwight Bradshaw, leader of an ASRM opposition group called Citizens for a Healthy Environment, said he met with Waycaster in December and understood that NASA had been trying to convince BPC that a deflection ramp was not needed as part of the ASRM project.

"We understood that it had been left out of the bid specifications," Bradshaw stated.

He alleged that with the dimensions his organization was given for the structure, which was about 600 feet long, 200 feet wide and one foot thick, plus the fill dirt involved, that NASA may have wanted to avoid the cost.

"We're talking about millions of dollars just for pouring the concrete," he said.

His organization, which does not want the ASRM located at Stennis because members feel it will be a danger to the environment and the health of Coast residents, believes a ramp would be necessary for such a project—and then, still would not be enough.

"This is the best available in control technology," he said.

"In Utah, they have 1,000-foot hills to deflect the exhaust. Here, we don't think they'd be able to build one high enough to do any good."

Another technology is a water scrubbing system that would scrub the gases in the motor exhaust to remove harmful substances. Citizens for a Healthy Environment favors that system, even though it would cost more and leave NASA with several million gallons of acid water to treat and dispose of, he said.

Bradshaw gave credit to Congressman Gene Taylor for getting the scrubbing system reconsidered after it had allegedly been dropped as a possibility.

Taylor said he went to NASA earlier this month and "Made clear to the that their job is to clean up the testing and to show the public they have taken the proper steps to clean it up."

He said he is sure the technology to do so is available, but does not want the project in Hancock County if NASA fails to prove to the public that it is environmentally safe.

"Statewide, the ASRM can provide a whole lot of jobs. Here in this district, it would mean very few jobs, but if it's not safe it could put our foresters, oystermen and shrimpers out of work," Taylor stated.

"If it's going to that, it's a bad trade-off."

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Planning Commission invites Hancock County residents to attend the monthly Planning Commission meetings to hear and comment on the progress of the Hancock County Comprehensive Plan. Representatives from the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District will present their findings and report on the Plan's schedule at each meeting.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Pork has come a long way since its first transatlantic journey way back in 1493, when eight pigs traveled with Christopher Columbus on his second voyage to the New World. As it turned out, they never quite made it to the mainland, but settled in the Caribbean islands!

It wasn't until almost half a century later, in 1539, that on the next "leg of the journey" swine sailed with De Soto from Cuba to Florida. These were among the ancestors of the hogs which roamed the new continent.

And, it wasn't until a century after that journey, that pigs accompanied English, Dutch and German settlers when they came as immigrants to the colonies. And, from these coastal "hoofholds" pigs traveled into the West, establishing themselves as important domestic farm animals.

Hogs were fattened to supply meat for the table and also to supply the necessary fat for cooking bountiful meals to sustain the hard-working farmers. Today's pork, changing to meet our needs, is far leaner, with significantly less fat content. It's heralded as "the other white meat" and tasty in many dishes which in other times called for veal or chicken.

I like to accompany pork chops or roast with oranges or lemons, as a departure from the time-honored dictum of "apples with pork." One of my favorites is:

ORANGE AND SAGE ROAST PORK

2 1/2 to 3 lbs. boneless pork roast

4 Tblsp. butter or margarine

2 tsp. sage, or 1/2 tsp. dried sage

4 Tblsp. sugar

6 Tblsp. red wine vinegar

1/3 cup fresh orange juice

Several orange slices

1 scant cup chicken stock or broth

Pepper, salt to your taste

Melt the butter in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven over medium heat, and brown the roast on all sides. Place in baking pan, add the sage, sugar, vinegar and chicken stock, and bake, uncovered, basting, for an hour and a half or until your meat thermometer indicates that the pork is done, without lingering pinkness. (I still test my pork as our old family cook did—I poke it deeply with the point of a knife.)

Add the orange juice, bathing the pork well, top with slices of orange, and return to the oven for 10 more minutes. Deglaze the sauces in the pan, for your sauce or gravy, adding a little broth or water, or even a little sherry, to do so. (Six servings)

If you haven't any stock on hand, you may use canned broth or granules and water to make the broth—but, remember, that these are saltier than the homemade, so you may wish to dilute further with a little wine or orange juice or water. Hope that you like the tangy flavor.

Bay food store prohibited from accepting food stamps

A Hancock County store has been barred from participating in the food stamp program because of program violations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service reports.

S & H Grocery, 246 Washington Street, Bay St. Louis, owned by Truman A. Schultz and Rhonda B. Schultz, was disqualified for six months based on evidence showing that store personnel sold detergent, trash bags and paper products for food stamps.

James E. Salter, of the Food and Nutrition Service's Jackson office, said food stamps can be used legally only to buy food or seed and plants to be used in gardens to grow food.

Salter explained that before being authorized to accept food stamps from customers, store owners must agree to abide by food stamp program rules. Violations of the rules result in stores being disqualified from the program for periods of time ranging from six months to permanently.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1990-1B

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

Most of the talk about local sports this week is about the basketball tournament at St. Stanislaus, which opens tonight with Bay High taking the court to challenge the Rock-A-Chaws.

On the national sports scene, of course, everything—and I mean EVERYTHING—is centered around Sunday's Super Bowl XXIV over in New Orleans.

I'm picking Denver over San Francisco for sentimental reasons. (Yes, there is somebody from University of Southern Mississippi on the Broncos, even if he isn't expected to play much. Does anybody else out there remember Sammy Winder, a running back who played around the time I graduated in 1981?)

One of the things no one can avoid around Super Bowl time is the trivia contest that television, radio and some of the larger print media stage for about two weeks before the game. Anything you ever wanted to know about the Super Bowl is going to be available.

That's including the latest high price a scalper has been trying to get for tickets ($2,750 for four, according to Associated Press) and the inevitable comparison between the two competing teams and the New Orleans Saints.

I may be committing sports sacrilege by saying this, but I wonder if there's anybody else out there who is tired of the hype and just wants to get on with the game.

But, for those of you who like the hype, I have an idea—let's create a new category for the Trivia Pursuit game; we can call it Super Bowl Trivia.

A new coastwide seniors' tennis league is forming and is looking for men and women age 50 and older.

It will be a Volvo league with ratings of 3.0, 3.5, 4.0 and 4.5. Players must be rated by a USTA professional and ratings will be provided at Bayou Bluff Tennis Club in Gulfport on Saturday, Feb. 3, which is also the deadline for teams to be formed, and at Diamondhead on Feb. 4. Both verifications begin at 1:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Mary McDonnell at 255-1556.

By the way, players need not be members of an existing tennis club in order to participate.

There is also a women's doubles tennis tournament coming up Feb. 13-16 to benefit Gulf Coast Women's Center, which assists victims of family violence.

Gulfport Racquet Club is providing facilities for the event, which has a registration deadline of Feb. 9. Entry forms are available at tennis clubs along the Gulf Coast, but more information can be obtained by calling Gulfport Racquet Club at 896-3554.

Each division plays on only one day of the tournament, and divisions include beginner or players rated 2.5, 3.0, 3.5, 4.0, 4.5 and 5.0.

The $25 per team entry fee includes two rounds of play, a complimentary lunch, door prizes and the awards banquet on Friday night.

For those of you interested in the proposed limits on red-fish and cobia, Bureau of Marine Resources will sponsor several public hearings along the coast on the subject, with one of them scheduled for 7 p.m. Feb. 1 at the Hancock County Courthouse.

If you can't make it on that day, you may wish to consider one of the earlier hearings: 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Jackson County Convention Center in Gautier (located just east of Gulf Coast Community College's Jackson County campus) or 7 p.m. Wednesday at the J.L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium on US-90 in Biloxi.

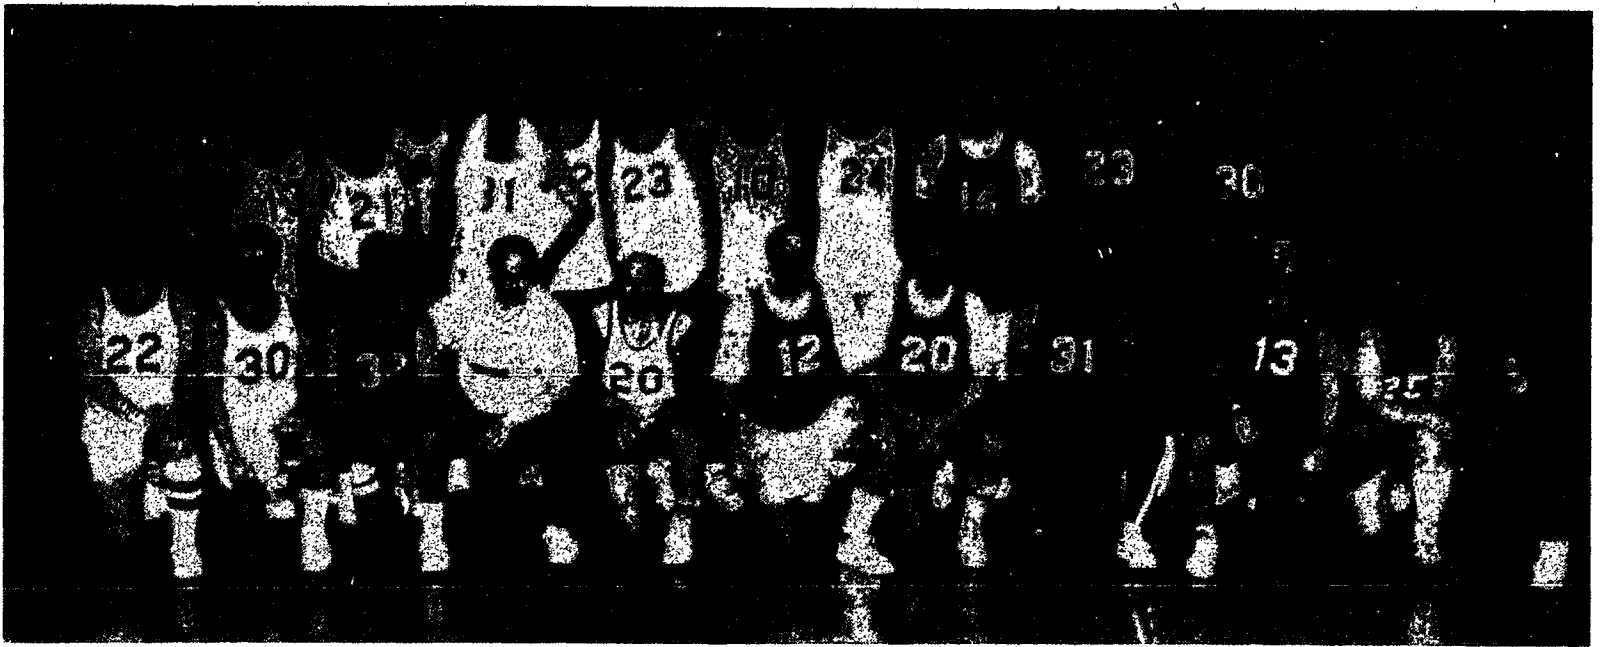

Don't forget to get your running shoes ready for Saturday when the Long Beach YMCA sponsors its third annual 10K Winter Classic and a two-mile health run.

Late registration will be accepted on race day from 8 a.m. until 8:45 a.m. on race day, with the 10K beginning at 9 a.m. from the Y on Pineville Road. Fee is $10. Children 12 and under who participate in the two-mile run pay $5.

The Long Beach Y will be open and runners may make free use of the showers, dressing rooms and workout facilities after the race.

For more information call Cindy Archer at 864-1223, or Lindo Sullivan of Gulf Coast Running Club at 832-6071.

Items for Time Out can be submitted by calling 467-5474 or by mailing them to The Sea Coast Echo at P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Deadline for submissions is Tuesday afternoon.

SSC tourney tips off tonight

The second annual St. Stanislaus basketball tournament gets underway tonight at 6:30 with the Stone County Tomcats facing the Pascagoula Panthers.

"We expect a great tournament," noted Rock-A-Chaw head basketball coach Chuck Genin. "All the teams involved have one or more outstanding players."

The tournament will pit teams from St. Stanislaus, Bay High, Pascagoula, Gulf Breeze, Fla., Philadelphia, and last year's returning tournament champion Stone County.

The 10 and seven Tomcats will rely on the services of top college prospect Bubba Wilson (6'11", 215 pounds), still only a junior, and seniors Shea Martin (6'3") and Marcus Hinton (6'6").

Wilson has been averaging 18.2 points and 11 rebounds a game for the Cats.

Pascagoula (12-4) features Maurice Stephens (6'5"), one of the top scorers and rebounders on the Gulf Coast, as well as high scoring Calvin Williams (5'11").

At 8 p.m., the host Rock-A-Chaws will take on cross-town rival Bay High. Stanislaus (11-7) features 6'0" Shannon Garrett, averaging 17 points a game; Greg Schruoff, 5'11", who currently leads the coast in assists and steals; and Chris Perronne, 6'2", with a 13-point average and eight rebounds a game.

The Bay High Tigers (6-11) feature the outstanding play of Micah Necaise (5'11") and Mike Scharp (5'10").

The winner of the Stone County-Pascagoula contest will advance to Friday's semi-final against Philadelphia. The SSC-Bay High winner will go up against Gulf Breeze Friday.

Philadelphia (12-4) has one of the top 2A teams from North Mississippi. Formerly a top contender in North 3A, the Torna-does feature Mark Stribling (6'11"), Vandy Hopson (6'6"), and Dexter Spencer (6'6"). Gulf Breeze (3-8) boasts Tad Ramey, a 5'10" senior who is one of their top performers.

According to Genin, a lot of thought went into the selection of the teams who will compete in the tourney.

"We are trying to make our tournament one of the best on the Coast," he said. "We decided to bring in outside teams to get a chance to play new teams and to have a new draw for our local fans," Genin continued.

"I feel our local fans deserve a chance to see new teams play in this area. We are very excited to have all the teams in this tournament."

The championship game will be Saturday at 8 p.m., with the consolation game for third place at 6:30. All games will be played in the Brother Peter Gym on the St. Stanislaus campus.

"All the teams in this tournament are well coached," Genin added. "There will probably be several college scouts on hand to see these teams play."

"There will be fine matchups, and we want everyone to come out and support their team," Genin concluded.

Tigers lose in overtime

The Bay High Tigers narrowly missed an overtime win against Pearl River Central Tuesday, losing 63 to 65.

Micah Necaise was credited with sending the tied game into overtime when he hit a three-pointer at the buzzer, but Pearl River's Mark Montgomery shot for two in the extra period to win the game for the Blue Devils.

Necaise beat out Montgomery in individual statistics, racking up 33 points, six rebounds and five assists. Montgomery scored 26 points for his team and Jamerson Walker followed his lead with 12 points.

Following Necaise in scoring for the Tigers was Mike Sharp, who contributed 10 points. Bay High moves on to the St. Stanislaus tournament tonight.

In women's action Tuesday, Bay High dropped a game to Pearl River 59-42.

Despite a 20-20 tie at halftime, the Lady Tigers were unable to overcome a third-quarter rally by Pearl River.

Leading scoring for both her own team and the game itself was Kinta Ladner of Bay High.

Recreation association plans skateboard, bicycle contest

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Recreation Association will sponsor another of its freestyle bicycle and skateboard competitions Feb. 3.

The event will be staged at Valena C. Jones Gymnasium on Old Spanish Trail and will be hosted by Cycles Plus.

Bicycle registration will be accepted from noon until the start of competition at 1 p.m. Registration fee is $5 and three divisions, beginner, intermediate and advanced, will be featured.

Skate registration follows at 3 p.m. with competition beginning at 4 p.m. Registration fee is also $5 for that event, but there will be four divisions instead of three. They include beginner A and B, intermediate, advanced and sponsored.

Prizes and prizes will be awarded in all categories. In addition, there will be a sticker toss.

Refreshments will be available and the public is invited. Admission for spectators is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The last competition, staged in early December, attracted 15 bicycle competitors and 4 skaters, according to Earl Reed of Cycles Plus.

For more information, contact Hancock County Recreation Association at 467-0470 or Cycles Plus 467-1706.

Rocks tied with Cats for first St. Stanislaus overcame a 31-26 halftime deficit last Friday to beat the Long Beach Bearcats 68-67, giving the Rock-A-Chaws a share of first place in District VIII 4A with the Cats. Both teams are 4-1 in district play.

The Rocks took advantage of the hot hands of forward Shannon Garrett, who scored 30 points and had 13 rebounds for the evening. In the third quarter, SSC outscored the Cats 29-16.

For the Rock win, Cedric Smith added 16 and Greg Schruoff hit for 14 and had eight assists. Schruoff leads the district in assists with an average of 8.5 per game.

"We are learning to hold the lead and win the close games," ROCKS PAGE 2B

Soccer Olympic team trials set

The Mississippi Youth Soccer Association will conduct player trials on Feb. 4 for the purpose of creating two state Olympic Development Soccer Teams.

One team will be comprised of male players born on and between Aug. 1, 1974 through July 31, 1975. The second team will be comprised of male players born on and between Aug. 1, 1975 through July 31, 1976.

The trials will be conducted beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Butts Park in Jackson (home fields of Southwest Jackson Soccer League).

In addition to the age requirement for eligibility, the player must be a Mississippi Youth Soccer Association player and a U.S. Citizen. The trial fee will be $25. Any trial fees previously paid by a player desiring to try out will be utilized to reduce the $25 fee.

Players wishing to be considered should bring a white and dark colored shirt along with a soccer ball. The purpose of the trials is to identify 18 players in each age group to represent Mississippi in a USYSA Region 3 event Memorial Day weekend.

Any questions related to

Olympic Development Soccer should be directed to a local soccer program administrator or to Stan Stuart, Mississippi Youth Soccer Association Boys ODP administrator.

BAYS spring season begins next week

BY DENA BISNETTE

Bay Area Youth Soccer begins its spring season next week, but two games in the Under 12 Girls division have already been played.

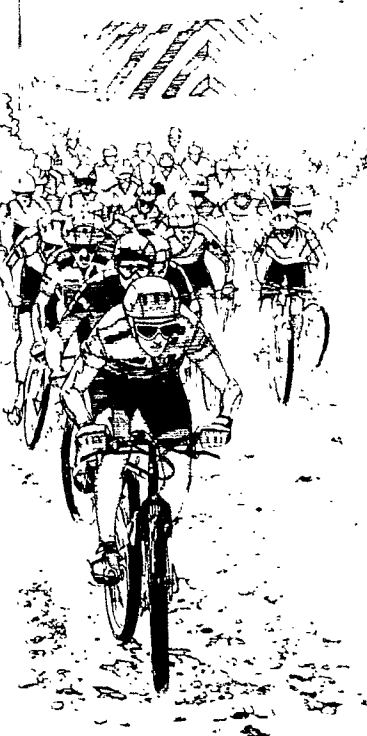

On Saturday, the BAYS Under 12 Girls coached by Bernard Tusa defeated Ocean Springs 6-0 and the Under 12 Girls team coached by Eddie Favre defeated coach Richard Flowers' team 6-1, Flowers said.

The older age groups, Under 12 and up, will begin spring play with the Gulf Coast League Feb. 3 and all BAYS teams will be playing by the first full week of February, Flowers added.

Games will be in various locations because league play involves teams from outside Hancock County.

Rock-A-Chaws defeat Gulfport; fall prey to Long Beach, 2-0

The St. Stanislaus soccer team continued its bid for a District VIII playoff berth last Friday night with a 1-0 victory over Gulfport, but fell short of an additional win with a tough defeat at the hands of Long Beach, 2-0, Tuesday night.

"The Rock-A-Chaws played an excellent offensive game against the hard-nosed, fast-moving Gulfport club," stated SSC coach Mark Foley.

The ball changed fields many times throughout this game, which exhibited "some of the most rapid and hard play I've seen all season from any teams in this league," continued Foley.

The sole SSC goal was booted in by John Rutherford, who was in his second varsity debut.

"With a few exceptions, these two teams were well balanced and provided an exciting match to view," Foley said.

On Tuesday night, the Rock-A-Chaws met an equally tough opponent, the Long Beach Bears. Though the Rocks had the home field advantage, they could not overcome the well-rounded play of their opponent.

"The SSC defense played another exceptional game, preventing many scoring opportunities for the Bears," Noah Denson, Ross Banura, Jesse Hays and Jason McArthur teamed up as a formidable line which the Long Beach offense could not penetrate," stated Coach Foley.

The first half of play saw many opportunities for both teams to score, but excellent play by both defensive units prevented little fruition of effort.

Only Long Beach was able to kick one ball in the net to lead at the half, 1-0. The Rocks came out in the second half playing aggressive ball, but were denied by the opponent's defense.

The second goal for Long Beach came on a contested call on an inadvertent hand ball in the SSC penalty box. Long Beach was awarded a penalty kick, which resulted in this final point scored for the night. The final score was 2-0, which boosts Long Beach toward a playoff contest.

The Rock-A-Chaws are now 6-3 overall and 4-3 in district play. The Rocks will face Harrison Central at home this Friday. The junior varsity game will begin at 5:30 p.m. and the varsity contest is slated for a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Injuries plague Wildcats contribute to losing season

Injuries are taking their toll on Pearl River Community College's basketball squad, according to Coach Peter Georgian.

slowed with injuries.

Warner is slowed by a sprained wrist, while Kindall Leggett has a sprained knee and Virgil White has a sore ankle. Georgian said the three were able to practice some Sunday, but added, "Right now we're up in the air (about how well they will be able to play)."

He said the Wildcats must beat full strength when they take the floor, as the club does not have much depth.

Georgian said that several of the players, including Fred Warner who has been averaging 17 points per game as well as holding the number two rebound average for the club with nine per game, has been

With two losses last week (52-67 against Jones on the road Monday and 87-59 against East Central on the road Thursday), the Cats will try to regroup this week, facing Natchez College on the road Monday and Co Lin at home Thursday in a nightcap of double header. The Lady Wildcats will host Co Lin with tipoff set for 6 p.m. The loss to East Central, which left the Cats at 6-11 overall and 1-3 in the South Division, was the team's worst performance of the years, Georgian said, and PRC can't afford a repeat against division foe Co Lin.

said Rock head basketball coach Chuck Genin.

"That's something we did not do well before Christmas."

The Rocks were scheduled to face off against Hancock North Central Tuesday at SSC.

Tonight, the Rock-A-Chaws will go up against Bay High in their first game of the Second Annual SSC Invitational Tournament. Game time is 8 p.m. at the Brother Peter Gym.

Hancock public hearing seeks input on redfish regulations

The Bureau of Marine Resources will sponsor three public meetings in January and February to seek public input on proposed redfish and cobia regulations in Mississippi waters.

She state Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, on Nov. 17, closed the commercial redfish season, in order to comply with standards set by the U.S. Secretary of Commerce and adopted by the Gulf of Mexico Fisheries Management Council.

The closure is scheduled to last for 90 days.

The federal redfish management plan for the Gulf has established a goal of a 30 percent escapement rate to ensure a healthy redfish populations. The escapement rate is the number of redfish that escape capture long enough to get from the inland Mississippi waters to the open waters of the Gulf to spawn.

Scott Gordon, BMR acting director of fisheries, said that information given to the bureau by Gulf Coast Research Lab shows a redfish escapement rate of only 10 percent.

Recreational redfishing is not affected by the closure, but, Gordon said, proposed tighter restrictions on both commercial and recreational redfishing should be discussed at the meetings.

Additionally, proposed restrictions on cobia fishing will also be discussed at the meetings. Presently, there are no commercial restrictions on the taking of cobia in Mississippi waters.

All the public meetings will begin at 7 p.m. on the following dates and locations:

Tuesday, Jan. 30: Jackson County Convention Center at 2072 Library Lane, Gautier, just east of the Jackson County Campus of Gulf Coast Community College.

Wednesday, Jan. 31: J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium, Hwy. 90, Biloxi.

Thursday, Feb. 1: Hancock County Courthouse, Bay St. Louis.

Ban on commercial red fishing extended

The ban on commercial red fishing in Mississippi waters will be extended through April 15.

The Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, meeting Wednesday in Jackson, voted to extend the ban 60 days beyond the Feb. 15 closure to allow the Bureau of Marine Resources time to formulate a redfish management plan.

The bureau has scheduled a series of public hearings Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 in the three coastal counties to gather input from redfish industry representatives to help devise the plan. At the hearings, proposed regulations to protect the diminishing red drum population also will be discussed, said Chris Snyder, BMR public information coordinator.

Further regulation for red drum in Mississippi is necessary, experts say, because there has been an increased use of redfish since the mid-1970s, including a massive increase in commercial use.

In 1984, the total commercial redfish catch reported in Mississippi was 100,000 pounds. In the first six months of 1986, figures show a total of 8 million pounds of redfish were caught.

Bassin' with the pros

Follow these tips when purchasing a bass boat

"Your major consideration when purchasing a new bass boat should be the size of the water you'll be fishing, as well as the type of fishing you plan to do."

"That's the advice of well-known tournament angler Denny Brauer, a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff who has fished from dozens of different types of boats over the years."

"The size of the water you're going to fish should be a major factor in determining the size of the boat you purchase," he says. "If you're going to be out on large impoundments where storms and rough water can be a problem, you want to get a larger boat."

"They're safer, more stable, and easier to maneuver, and once you get caught in really rough water, you'll also realize big boats are worth every penny you spend for them."

"On the other hand," Brauer continues, "if you prefer to fish smaller lakes, you certainly don't need a larger boat."

It is also important to determine how you want to use a boat, adds the Evinrude pro. If you intend to fish national bass tournaments and travel across the country, certain details deserve attention. The same is true if you intend to use your boat for purposes other than fishing, such as skiing or cruising.

"Most tournament bass boats range from just over 17 feet to nearly 20 feet," explains Brauer. "They have dual livewells, raised casting decks, closed tackle storage, and a 12/24 volt electrical system that requires three batteries."

"They are specialized machines just like automobiles, and you can spend as much as $20,000 for one."

If fishing is only one of the uses you plan for your boat, says Brauer, a different interior design might be considered. Many family boats have dual consoles, for example, that are favored by non-fishing passengers.

The size of the boat you purchase will also determine the size of the outboard engine you use. Brauer feels it is just as bad to underpower a boat as it is to overpower one.

"My recommendation is to stay as close to the boat's horsepower rating as possible," he says. "Few marine dealers will overpower a boat today, due to the liability, so that isn't much of a problem."

"Underpowering, however, can severely affect the boat's handling. Hulls are designed to give optimum performance at certain power ranges, and if your small engine doesn't provide enough power, the boat will not run efficiently."

The Evinrude pro strongly suggests purchasing any new boat from a reputable manufacturer, and getting a trailer from the same manufacturer to make certain it fits the boat.

"Most major boat manufacturers make their own trailers now," says Brauer, "so you know you're getting the proper package. A trailer that doesn't fit the boat will eventually ruin that boat."

It's a good idea to wear a personal flotation device (PFD) whenever you're on the water, and Johnson and Evinrude dealers offer a PFD designed especially for the bass fisherman. The arm holes are generously cut for ease of movement, and the side laces are adjustable to help keep you cool in any weather. They're available in Johnson and Evinrude colors to match your favorite brand.

THRIVING ON CHAOS

The business world is being turned upside down by a global revolution—the advance of information technology—and organizations must respond or die, according to best-selling author Tom Peters in the new public television series 'Thriving on Chaos.' It premieres Sunday, Jan. 28 at 3 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

The three-part series of one-hour specials combines individual company profiles, interviews with experts and lectures by Peters before a live audience, to describe a business world that is moving at breakneck speed—where those who thrive on chaos are constantly improving and initiating change, encouraging open communication, eliminating hierarchy and empowering their workers.

Mississippi Waterfowl Stamp Contest will be redesigned

The annual Mississippi Waterfowl Stamp Contest is getting a face-lift.

The contest, which has selected art work to appear on the state waterfowl stamp for more than a decade is being revamped in efforts to bring in needed additional revenue to its sponsor, the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Redesign of the contest will require artists entering the competition to paint a species of waterfowl specified by the department.

"In addition, artists will be required to submit a complete marketing plan for the artwork in the event their artwork wins the contest," said Jim Walker, merchandising manager.

Walker said that in the future the department will contract with the winning artist for publication of a limited edition of waterfowl prints and matching stamps.

"In the past our contest has been very effective at getting artwork for the stamp, but the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks has made no money from the overall operation. Only the winning artist benefited," Walker said.

"By marketing the stamps and prints we will continue to provide an economic incentive to the artist, while guaranteeing that the department will receive some needed revenue for our waterfowl program," he said.

"It is very likely the contest will be open not only to Mississippi artists but artists throughout the U.S. who wish to enter. We will strive to get the best package of painting/marketing proposal possible for this very competitive program," Walker said.

Walker said the approach the department is taking with the waterfowl stamp is not new, and that a number of states across the country have similar set-ups for benefiting from a stamp and print program. Today, prints generally produce as much or more revenue as the stamps because of print collectors.

Location of the contest, rules, date and time will be announced soon. The contest will not be held in February, as it has been in previous years, he said.

Wildlife Federation seeks public opinion on issues

The Mississippi Wildlife Federation's morning program of their 1990 annual meeting on Jan. 27 will feature three open facilitated workshops on environmental problems, game and fish policies and laws and conservation education.

The purpose of the workshops is to encourage the Federation members, technical experts and other Mississippians to tell the Federation which specific issues and problems concerning the state's natural resources the Federation needs to address in the 1990's.

The public is invited to attend, free of charge, any of the three sessions which will last from 9-11 a.m. on Saturday at the Coliseum Ramada Inn. The workshops will be in Ramada Rooms I, II and III. Registration begins at 8 a.m. in the South Lobby. Call 353-6922 for more details.

DSU swim team suffers loss

Delta State University swimming and diving coach Ronnie Mayers said Henderson State's men and women's teams would be difficult to handle in their own pool.

Mayers was right on target as the Peddies handed the Lady Statesmen swimmers their initial loss, 64-49, after nine straight wins. The Henderson men clipped the Statesmen 60-53, despite Eric Jewkes' team record time of 4:33.28 in the 400-yard individual medley.

Tedd Gilbert matched his best performance of the 1989-90 season with a 47.72 second clocking in the 100 freestyle. He also captured the 200 free in 1:47.00.

Jewkes, Lonnie Ray of Bay St. Louis, Keith Salter and Gilbert led the 400 free relay team to a first place finish in a time of 3:18.47 while Chris Howell won the 1-meter diving with 150.50 points.

Delta State takes a break until a Feb. 3 New South Conference visit to Arkansas-Little Rock.

Scouts raise a flag at a national jamboree in Nashville

Annual sale helps Girls Scouts long after cookies are eaten

BY DENA BISNETTE

There's a little girl on your doorstep and she wants you to buy a box of Girl Scout cookies.

As you're munching on your box of mints or Samoas, you wonder where the money for the goodies ends up going.

In Hancock County, the 232 children and 71 adults involved in Girl Scouting have a variety of projects.

The biggest project financed by cookie sales is the annual summer camp, but some of the money is also used for trips, supplies and community service projects, according to Cookie Chairperson Alice Holmes and Service Team Director Gayle Egan.

A few of the past outings for the scouts have been to a national jamboree in Nashville, Tenn., and to Cape Canaveral in 1988.

The local scouts are also planning to revive the annual Girl Scout Food Festival, which has been set for Feb. 10, 11 and 12 at St. Clare School.

In addition, there are national observances in which the local scouts participate. They include Girl Scout Week, which begins March 11, and Daisy Day, a celebration of the birthday of Juliette Gordon Lowe, who founded the organization and was called "Daisy" by her family and friends.

There are also seminars for scouts. Two of those coming up include one on stress management and one on money management for children.

Girl Scout activities were once for troop members only. In recent years, however, Girl Scouting has changed, Egan said. A group for kindergarten-age girls, Daisies, was added about six years ago, and programs like

Last year, more than $100,000 was earned by members of the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council from the sales of 369,780 boxes of cookies. In Hancock County, 11,712 boxes were sold to earn $3,868, Holmes said.

County the week of Feb. 14.

Cookies are $2.50 per box. If you want cookies and a child has not taken your order, call Holmes at 467-3710.

camp and seminars are now open to individual girls who have registered as scouts but are not members of a specific troop.

The scouts are collecting orders for the cookies, which will be baked at the organization's national bakery and will arrive in Hancock with specific projects decided upon by individual troops.

However, the scouting program needs more help from the general public than just the purchase of cookies.

Local businesses have been very cooperative in helping Girl Scouts, but more assistance from individual volunteers is needed, Holmes explained.

"We need more leaders and more girls," Egan explained. One group which particularly needs leadership as well as more participation is a group of juniors the Gulf Pines Council's Hancock County wing hopes to start at Bay Middle School.

There is also some room for additional members in the older elementary grades and some of the existing junior troops.

"We need assistants as well as leaders. We need the grandmothers and aunts who are sitting around the house wondering what to do that day," Egan said.

Another problem is the increased availability of other activities and the number of girls trying to juggle scouting and other organizations, team sports, or school and church-related projects.

"There are so many extra-

WALNUT OAT CRISPS

- 1 1/4 walnuts
- 1 c. brown sugar, packed
- 1 1/2 tsp. grated orange peel
- 2/3 c. whole wheat flour
- 1/2 tsp. soda
- 1 1/4 c. uncooked quick cooking oats
- 1/2 c. butter
- 1 egg
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Chop walnuts; set aside. Cream butter, sugar, egg and orange peel. Stir in whole wheat flour, salt, soda and cinnamon together; blend into creamed mixture. Stir in oats and 1/3 cup walnuts. Shape into 1 inch balls and place on lightly greased baking sheets. Flatten with bottom of glass dipped in sugar; sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup walnuts. Bake at 305° for about 10 minutes. Cool slightly, then remove to wire rack to cool completely before storing. Makes about 5 dozen 2-inch round crisps.

curricular activities in the schools these days it is harder for girls to make time for scouting," she said. "I feel deeply that you get some things from scouting that you don't get from soccer, you don't get from basketball, you don't get from honor society and you don't get from school."

Egan explained, "In scouting, the girls are in service to somebody else."

Some of the projects are small, such as making holiday favors for the Meals on Wheels trays brought to senior citizens, but they still emphasize service to others.

"We still do the traditional things like tying knots and learning camping skills, but we also do things where the girls develop ethical values," she said. "A lot of these things can carry over into their later lives."

Anyone who would like to join a scout troop or volunteer to help can call Holmes at 467-3710 or Egan at 467-3677.

BCE plans Catholic Schools Week activities

Bay Catholic Elementary School joins Catholic schools nationwide celebrating Catholic Schools Week Jan. 29-Feb. 2 with the theme, "A Parent's Choice."

"Parents have been choosing Bay Catholic for 30 years now," said Ann Allen, BCE principal. "We consider our school 'a fine place to grow.'"

Interested parents are invited to tour Bay Catholic between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Friday next week. Bay Catholic includes preschool early childhood classes, ages three and four, kindergarten, and grades one through six. There are only limited openings in grades one through six, added Allen.

Bay Catholic parents have expressed great satisfaction with the "faith environment" of the school, as well as the role modeling by staff members and academics offered.

Allen stressed the religious atmosphere and teaching of morals as prime considerations of parents who send their children to BCE, as well as its excellent instructional program.

Fully accredited by the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges and by the State of Mississippi, Bay Catholic serves as a "feeder" school to nearby Our Lady Academy and St. Stanislaus High School.

"We have a good comprehensive curriculum, and our students go on to do well in high school," said Allen.

Social adjustment is the focus of the early childhood grades, rather than academics, she added. "We concentrate on all those things little people need to grow."

Other Catholic Schools Week events at Bay Catholic include a teachers' appreciation luncheon, prepared and served by parents, and a special children's day with activities planned to please the students. The children will also celebrate Candlemas Day next Friday by bringing candles from home to be blessed for home use.

Pre-registration for current students is currently in progress. New applicants who pre-register during Catholic Schools Week should receive letters of admission by the end of February.

Guice named Youth of the Month

Billy Guice, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Guice III of Biloxi, has been honored as the December Youth of the Month by the Exchange Club of Gulfport.

Guice, a senior at Coast Episcopal High School, is class treasurer and president of both the National Honor Society and the French Club.

He is a member of Mu Alpha Theta, Who's Who Among American High School Students and the Society of Distinguished American High School Students.

In sports, Guice lettered in football, basketball, soccer and tennis. He is a member of the Coke Express State Select Soccer Team and the Mississippi Junior Olympic Soccer Team.

The Exchange Club is a national service organization with chapters throughout the country. One of its many programs for young people is the "Youth of the Month" chosen from area schools.

From the students honored each month by the club, a "Youth of the Year" is chosen, and the winner is eligible to compete on the district level.

How most people deal with the symptoms of a heart attack.

Hiding from a problem doesn't make it go away. In fact, hiding from the symptoms of a heart attack can make the problem worse. Much worse.

Be alert to heart attack symptoms. Chest pain and pressure are the most common. Pain may radiate down your arm, neck or shoulder. There's also shortness of breath. Cold sweat. Dizziness. Faintness and nausea.

Sometimes only a few symptoms occur. Sometimes more. Sometimes the symptoms can even be due to another problem.

Only one thing is certain. The sooner heart problems are treated, the better your chance of recovery.

That's why we're here. The Heart Emergency Service at NorthShore Regional Medical Center is the first of its kind in this area. Located in our Emergency Department, we save lives by detecting heart problems rapidly and providing necessary treatment.

If you experience any symptoms of a heart attack, get immediate medical attention. Anytime, day or night, you can call our emergency 24-Hour Heartline at 1-800-HEART-13. An emergency care professional is available around the clock to answer questions, give advice or even dispatch an ambulance if necessary.

The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers a complete range of cardiac care services. That's important to you during those first critical hours following a heart attack. And although you'll probably never need them, it's good to know our heart team is available 24 hours a day.

We employ powerful clot-dissolving drugs that can save lives by stopping and, in some instances, actually reversing the effects of heart attacks. The sooner these drugs are administered the better the chance of a complete recovery.

And advanced diagnostic capabilities, including our state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization laboratory, help us assess and treat heart problems more accurately and effectively than ever.

We also offer educational programs that help people prevent heart attacks, and rehabilitation services that help heart patients recover faster and more fully.

Learn more about The Heart Center at NorthShore Regional Medical Center by calling (504) 641-MDMD and we'll send you a free brochure that describes our cardiac services in greater detail.

Remember, don't hide from any symptoms of a heart attack. Go to the nearest hospital emergency department. If you're close to NorthShore Regional Medical Center, use the Heart Emergency Service in our Emergency Department located just east of Interstate 10 on 190—Exit 266—Gause Boulevard. Or call 1-800-HEART-13. Don't hide. Seek help.
